

In light of this new information, the Department recommends extending the effective date of the Board's January 10, 2017 adverse accreditation action to February 20, 2017 so that the students currently enrolled in Bramson and eligible to graduate on February 17, 2017 will not be adversely affected by the non-renewal of Bramson's accreditation. This extension, however, does not alter or constitute a reconsideration of the Regents January 10, 2017 final determination and therefore does not extend Bramson's timeframe for appeal of the Board's January 10, 2017 determination to deny renewal of accreditation.
