What must an FBA include?

- The FBA must include, but is not limited to:
- x identification of the problem behavior;
 - x definition of the behavior in concrete terms;
 - x identification of the contextual factors that contribute to the behavior (including cognitive and affective factors); and
 - x formulation of a hypothesis regarding the general conditions under which a behavior usually occurs and probable consequences that serve to maintain it.

What information must an FBA include?

The FBA must:
 x

- o reinforcing consequences of the behavior;
- o recommendations for teaching alternative skills or behaviors; and
- o assessment of student preferences for reinforcement.

What information is an FBA based on?

The FBA must, as appropriate, be based on multiple sources of data (such as structured interviews, behavior rating scales, standardized assessments, checklists) and must include, but is not limited to:

- x information obtained from direct observation of the student;
