Introduction

Schools can serve as a protective factor in providing substance use prevention education, as outlined in the Health Education Standards Modernization Supplemental Guidance Docum

Acknowledgements

NYSED would like to extend its appreciation to its State partner, OASAS, for providing leadership and expertise to inform the work of this priority. Together, both agencies have engaged in many initiatives to educate and serve our schools, youth, families, and communities to enhance wellness. This document and resources have been developed with assistance from the following:

Legislative Background

New Education Law § 3038 (Attachment A) requires the Superintendent of each school district, in consultation with Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) District Superintendent (DS), where applicable, to identify an employee as a designee of the school district or BOCES to provide materials and/or resources to any student, parent or staff regarding where and how to find available substance use related services. Where possible the designated employee shall be a school social worker, school counselor, or any other health practitioner (i.e., school psychologist, school nurse). Information provided by a student, parent or staff to the designated employee shall be confidential, not be used in school disciplinary proceedings, and as related to other applicable privilege, be confidential pursuant to section 4508 of the civil practice law and rules. Nothing in this section can relieve the designated employee of a legal duty to otherwise report such information. The designated employee, or employees, are to undergo necessary training as may be required by the Commissioner.

Additionally, NYS Mental Hygiene Law §19.07 (Attachment B) was amended requiring OASAS to consult with NYSED to utilize existing educational materials, or develop new ones, to support school districts and BOCES to use in addition to, or in conjunction with current drug and alcohol curricula. Materials are to be age-appropriate and include information or resources for parents to identify the warning signs and address the risks of substance use. Topics are to include misuse and abuse of alcohol, tobacco, prescription medication and other drugs with an increased focus on substances most prevalent among school aged youth as defined in Education Law section 804. Accordingly, NYSED

OASAS chemical dependence treatment programs have an average daily enrollment of nearly 100,000 people and serve approximately 234,000 individuals every year. During the 2017-18 school year, OASAS-funded prevention providers reached youth in 1,701 public and non-public schools. This represents about 26% of NYS schools. Recurring direct (face-to-face) prevention services were delivered to approximately 454,000 youth. Of these, 80% received services through an evidence-based program that prevention research shows results in lower levels of youth problem behaviors.

Alcohol, tobacco, vaping, marijuana, synthetic cannabinoids, prescription pills, heroin, cocaine, amphetamines and fentanyl are some of the common substances of focus. No one ever anticipates they will become addicted, but gateway drugs can lead to other substances resulting in addiction and death. By raising awareness, educating about addiction, ensuring people engage in prevention efforts, knowing how to access care, and removing the shame and stigma associated with addiction, we can all be a part of the solution and help to combat addiction.

procedures for addressing student use and staff use is non-discriminatory, is not punitive, yet is supportive of wellness and is current as related to Education Law §3038 may include:

- x Development of a written policy to guide licensed personnel that are consistent with State and Federal Guidelines and NYS Licensure Requirements and Scope of Practice Guidelines;
- x Any written protocols and procedures on substance use should be detailed to ensure consistency of practice within the entire school district;
- x Substance use policy, protocols, and procedures should be evaluated, reviewed and revised periodically as determined by best practice and in alignment with NYS Laws (i.e., Modernization of Health Education Curriculum; Providing Educational Resources in the School Setting);
- x Identification and provision of professional development and education needs for both licensed and unlicensed personnel; and
- x Communication to students, parent/guardians, and the community about related information, resources, district policy and protocols, along with any required forms.

Notation: School districts are recommended to have Board of Education approved best practice substance use policies in place addressing student and staff substance use and refer to their approved policy when a substance use situation occurs.

Obligations of fashion on the OASAS Combat Addiction website at https://combataddiction.ny.gov/schools for use by the designee and multiple stakeholder groups.

School district employees designated under section 3038 are required to provide students, parents, or staff seeking assistance with information related to addiction and where to find available substance use related services. A central component of that obligation for the school district employee who is the designee is collaboration with field experts from community-based organizations. (c)10 (c)

the designated school employee. Education Law §3038 prohibits the fact that a request was made for information regarding substance abuse from use in any disciplinary proceeding.

When developing protocols, it should be ensured that the protocols are consistent with the known when referring to licensed professionals. Some definitions of practice for PPS employees are in Civil Service Law, not otherwise. School district administration will need to be aware of assistance that may be needed by PPS school employees, should they be the designated employee to provide substance use information. Such needs may include but not be limited to:

- x An area where the designee can meet to have a confidential discussion with a student, staff member, or parent/guardian requesting information;
- x Accessing, printing, collating, displaying and storing of educational materials on substance use;
- x Providing time and resources to engage in professional development opportunities, webinars, and subscribing to professional journals to keep practice current;
- x Providing opportunities and support for networking with CBOs to build upon already existing resources and, if needed, tailor specific ones; and
- x Offering additional opportunities to develop sustainable partnerships.

Questions related to NYS Licensed Professionals licensure and scope of practice should be directed to the 1-800-354-6343 (<http://www.nysed.gov/>). School and Community-Based Organization Partnerships

This section below has been adapted from the July 2018 Mental Health Education Literacy in Schools: Linking to a Continuum of Well-Being Comprehensive Guide.

Facilitating the relationship between schools and community agencies is critical to positively impact school climate and connecting more students and families with the help they or a loved one need. A school and community-based organization (CBO) is a partnership where initiative is taken by all involved on behalf of students, families and staff. Before all else, such partnerships should ensure that all required confidentiality required for students, parents/guardians, and staff is maintained. Initially, it is recommended to conduct a needs assessment to determine what school and community partnerships currently exist related to substance use, and where if any gaps may

Evaluation

NYSED and OASAS recommend that BOCES DSs, school district superintendents, school district boards of education, school administrators, pertinent certified and licensed professional school employees, students, parents/guardians and CBOs review and evaluate the implementation of NYS Education Law §3038. School districts must
